PENINSULA SOCIAL MISCELLANY

Short Paragraphs of Personal and Social Events Among Our Neighbors Across the Halifax.

Miss Essie Sippell left, Tuesday, for Nokomis, Ill. She has been spending the winter on the beach.

Mr. Rufus Kingman, who has been a guest of The Kenner for the past two months, left, Tuesday, for Bridgewater, Mass., stopping for a couple of days in St. Augustine.

Mr. H. E. Washburn and wife, of Ohio, arrived here Monday and are guests of The Lambdin Cottage. They will probably remain about a month.

Mr. Hardwin Courtney made a short trip to St. Augustine, this week. He left on Tuesday and will return Saturday.

Mrs. David H. Fritts and daughters, the Misses Louise and Mame Fritts left Tuesday for their home in Chicago. They expect to stop for a few days in St. Augustine. They made many friends while here, who hated to see them depart.

There was another small dance given in Wilman's opera house Tuesday evening, which was much enjoyed by those present.

A small party of young people gathered at the Lambdin cottage Monday evening to bid good bye to some of their Northern friends. Music was enjoyed the first part of the evening and then refreshments consisting of hot chocolate and cake were served. Those present were: Miss Essie Sippell, Miss Helen Russell, Miss Edith Schlesinger, Misses Mame and Louise Fritts, the Misses Gertrude, Kenzie and Bertha Lambdin, Messrs. Rufus M. Kingman, J. C. Lockyer, Hardwin Courtney, Lawton VinZant and Mero and Owen Eky.

Mr. J. C. Lockyer left Wednesday for Dayton, O. He has been spending the winter here.

A party of about twenty young people chartered the launch Maxine Sunday for a day's fun up the Tomoka. They left about 7 o'clock in the morning, returning about eight in the evening.

A jolly crowd of young people went over in the launch Illinois Wednesday evening to take in the street carnival, which they all enjoyed.

Miss Delover Harding is quite sick at her home on the river front. We hope she will soon improve.

The guests of The Columades will assemble tonight to contest for prizes offered for progressive hearts.

At the Opera House Tonight.

Liquid Air boiling on a block of ice.

Prof. Patty arrived today and will be at the Opera House tonight. He has brought with him a large amount of apparatus with which he will give practical experiments with liquid air, radium and wireless telegraphy. Dr. J. H. Johnson, a well known physician of Ohio, writing in regard to this lecture, says:

"I wish especially to commend the Radium lecture; the explanation of this wonderful substance and its properties were remarkably simple and clear, and people who had never heard of it before this lecture was given, are today thinking they are pretty well informed, and they know they have seen one of the most wonderful things in the world. The spiritisms which were passed, enabling the audience to see the emanations from the radium, were very satisfactory, and the audience would gladly have remained several hours longer, if Prof. Patty had been willing to continue."

No one can be disappointed with this lecture; everyone can learn something and be amused, as there are amusing features about some of the experiments. I consider it the duty of all parents to see that their children attend these demonstrations, if possible. We have conducted a lecture course here for a number of years, and had the best talent obtainable, but there has never been a number given which has been so instructive, as well as interesting, as this.

Mrs. J. C. Sheffield, Lake City, Fla., Miss Fannie L. VanMeter, Marlboro, N. J. are guests of The Columades.

THE FIRST PRINTING.

Some of the Earliest Examples of the Art Preserved.

The following are the earliest known examples of printing—two indulgences, printed usually on one side only of a single piece of vellum and two magnificent Bibles. Of these one is known to be the first complete book that ever was printed by the wonderful new invention, which, as the early printers so often proudly state in their colophons, produced "letters without the aid of any sort of pen, whether of quill, of reed or of metal."

The first piece of printing which is actually dated is the famous indulgence of Nicholas V. to such as should contribute money to aid the king of Cyprus against the Turks. This indulgence has the printed year date 1454, and a copy in The Hague museum has the date "Nov. 15" filled in with a pen. Mr. Duff tells us that "in the years 1454 and 1455 there was a large demand for these indulgences, and seven editions were issued. These may be divided into two sets, the one containing thirty-one lines, the other thirty lines, the first dated example belonging to the former."

This thirty line edition is shown to have been printed by Peter Schoeffer de Gensheim by the fact that some of the initial letters which occur in it appear in another later indulgence of 1480, which is known to have come from his press. Saturday Review.

TREATING A SPRAIN.

Perfect Rest and Hot Fomentations the First Requisites.

The question of how to treat a sprain is often raised. Everybody understands the nature of a sprain; that wrenching of a joint whereby some of the ligaments (those very useful bands which unite the bones forming the joint) are violently stretched or perhaps even ruptured. This kind of injury is rarely, except through unusual complications, dangerous in its nature, but it is certainly very painful and when of a serious nature may result in the permanent impairment of the joint. Such an injury, if at all severe, is immediately followed by marked swelling of the parts, and prompt attention should be given anticipating the surgeon's coming. The very first item in the treatment of a sprain is perfect rest of the limb until a doctor can be summoned. Reduce the swelling by applications of hot fomentations as hot as can be endured, changing about once in every three hours. If a piece of oilskin be not at hand use common newspaper. Wind it carefully outside the hot cloth. This will prevent the escape of the steam and prevent the cloth from cooling. A good way to save the hands from being scalded is to place the hot, dripping flannel in a towel, then, taking hold of each end of the towel, to wring it until the flannel is dry enough to apply.

THE WHITE CZAR.

Russia's Ruler Owes This Title to the Slip of a Pen.

The czar of Russia owes one of his titles to a slip of the pen. The Chinese character pronounced Hwang, meaning emperor, was originally compounded of two elements, meaning "oneself" and "ruler," by which it was intimated that an emperor or ruler of men should, before all things, be master of himself.

In after ages, however, by the omission of a single stroke, this character assumed its present corrupted form. In which the component elements signify "white" and "ruler," white having taken the place of the original "oneself."

Some years ago it was pointed out by a St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Times that this had been literally translated by the Mongols into tchagan khan, and then by the Russians into biely czar, or the "white czar," by which name the emperor of Russia is now known throughout the whole of Asia.—London Telegraph.

Etiquette. Anxious writes, "What are the duties of a father at his daughter's 'coming out' party?" To put up and shut up.—New York Herald.

What is celebrity? The advantage of being known to people who don't know you.—Chamfort.

NORTH AMERICA.

Originally Mapped as an Extension of India and China.

"Uneducated Americans," says a correspondent of the London Times, "pronounce the name of their country America, calling themselves Americans. In so doing they not only yield to a natural craving for a finer euphony, but, quite accidentally, I presume, are more correct etymologically than educated Americans. Amerigo being the Italian form of the Gothic Amalaric, contracted to Amarie. This personal name means 'strenuous in labor, resolute in action,' an appropriate motto to add to the Washington armorial in the national device of 'America.'"

"Brazil was the original America. Down to the first quarter of the sixteenth century our North America was still mapped as an extension of India. Tibet, China and Japan, with Brazil as an island, separated by the islands discovered by Columbus from 'the new world of Greater India' and named 'America provincia' and again 'America vel Brasilia.'"

"Not before the middle of the sixteenth century was the term 'America' extended to North America, with the addition 'vel Nova India.' In brief, the Americas were both mere windfalls in the heroic secular quest after 'spiced' India. This is the redoubled debt the Anglo-Saxon race owes India."

THREE RECIPES.

The Way to Either Can, Jam or Preserve a Husband.

For this purpose select a nice, kind, amiable, industrious, generous man. The American variety is far better than the foreign kind. Prepare him by having him go through a long engagement, which effectually renders him easy to handle. Gently detach him from all of his old friends and acquaintances and remove any habits he may have. He is then ready to can, preserve or make jam, as you choose.

To can, merely deprive him of his liberty and throw a handful of mother-in-law in the house. Men corked up like this have been known to keep for years without spoiling, though when they are opened up, if kept too long, they are apt to be sour. To make jam, prepare as before, but shred all of his finer feelings by nagging and pound them into a pulp by complaints. To preserve a husband, put as much love into the heart as it will hold, add an ocean of sympathy, a world of tenderness, a pound of forbearance, a dram of patience and drop him into it until he is thoroughly coated over with sugar. Husbands should always be crystallized one at a time, never in pairs; neither should they ever be stood in hot water. This is where many women make mistakes.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A Thoughtful Beggar.

J. Stanley Todd, the portrait painter, was talking about the beggars of different lands. "I have met," said Mr. Todd, "beggars of every description—shabby beggars, blustering ones, old beggars, robust ones—but the most remarkable beggar of the lot was a man whom I never met, yet whom I never assuredly will forget. All I saw of this beggar was his hat and his chair. The chair stood on a corner of the Rue St. Lazare in Paris. The hat lay on the chair, with a few coppers in it, and behind the hat was a placard reading, 'Please don't forget the beggar, who is now taking his luncheon.'"

A Humble Apology.

Conversation overheard in a London street; scene, laborer working on a scaffold, contemplating surrounding view, when his foreman comes along down below and, looking up and seeing him idle, calls out to him: "So yer 'aving a look round! What do yer think of the weather?" Workman (looking down with contempt)—No; I'm a-working! Foreman—Oh, I beg yer pardon! I'm sorry I stopped yer!—London Globe.

What Tact Is.

What we call tact is the ability to find before it is too late what it is that our friends do not desire to learn from us. It is the art of withholding on proper occasions information which we are quite sure would be good for them.—B. M. Crothers.

Good Roads for Orange and Volusia

A project is on foot to extend the fine roads of Orange county through Volusia county and on the Atlantic coast. Next to the Ormond-Daytona beach, the improved public highways of Orange county are conceded to be the finest in the state. With the extension of the good roads to the beach an added attraction to the interior portion of the Florida peninsula would be secured.

The county commissioners and representative men of both Orange and Volusia counties were to hold a meeting at Sanford last week to take steps for the early building of this road. It would be a grand thing for both counties, and the Daytona News hopes the project will go through.

Dinner Party at The Clarendon

Tuesday evening one of the private dining rooms of The Clarendon was handsomely decorated with roses, palms and many colored electric lights. Covers were laid for ten guests. The dinner was given by Dr. and Mrs. Potter in honor of W. F. Burdell, treasurer of the National Republican Committee and a prominent banker of Columbus, Ohio.

Those present were W. F. Burdell, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. W. Robinson, the Misses Robinson, J. W. Wilkinson, C. H. Knappe, Dr. and Mrs. Potter.

A Paradox.

"So you think you see an opportunity," said his friend. "See an opportunity?" said the enthusiastic person. "Yes, sir! And, I tell you, it's out of sight!"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Dream.

"I found I had saved up a thousand dollars without pinching myself." "Without pinching yourself?" "Without pinching myself." "Then how did you know you were awake?"—Puck.

"Playing" Poker.

Harry—Do you really love to play poker? Dick—I never play at the poker table; I work. It is the chap that loses his money who plays. Boston Transcript.

If you haven't much sense—and a lot of us haven't—talk as little as possible and go slow.—Athenian Globe.

BUILDING BOOM WILL BE GREAT

In Daytona and the Outlying Towns This Summer. Many New Structures Will be Erected.

The present season now drawing to a close will not only go down as the greatest in the history of the tourist travel to Florida and the city of Daytona, but it marks the culmination of some of the largest and heaviest real estate transactions ever made in the vicinity.

The purchasing has, in the main, been confined to Daytona, though thousands of dollars have been invested in property in Seabreeze, Goodall and the trucking lands of this county, and upon which new people will locate.

The bulk of the purchasing was mainly for residences, the land only, in most instances, being bought, though there have been a number of big deals in which residences already erected have changed hands, the former owners deriving handsome profits on the transactions.

All are enthusiastic over the new acquisitions. Those who will build residences or business blocks will either do so for their own use or for the purpose of renting, realizing that more desirable building for that purpose is the greatest need of the city. In no city of the state is there a greater demand for business structures of modern design, which would prove a paying investment.

As above said the bulk of the realty transactions are made during the winter months, though they by no means end the buying, as it holds good all summer and every month in the year, some of the most important deals ever consummated being made during the heated term. This buying and exchanging of realty has not been confined to strangers, either, as many of these, now residents, realize the future of Daytona and are investing, embracing the present time and opportunity as much as possible.

All parts of the city have been most liberally patronized in this scumper and barter for real estate, but possibly none more so than Seabreeze and Goodall, where some people prefer to reside on account of the surf bathing and fishing.
